WHO BUILDS THE AGENT

Anthony Kwawu.

FOUNDER, RAYLEIGH STARK. ALWAYS-ON MONITORING FOR INSTITUTIONAL BOOKS.

Eight years inside a global investment bank, building LLM analytics platforms, decision systems, and monitoring infrastructure for institutional teams. Direct work across high-value payments, transaction monitoring, and operational risk.

The work included taking an LLM-powered analytics platform from blank page to executive-level visibility. Leading API platform development. Running cloud migration at scale. Building infrastructure for institutional operations and risk teams. Each one a system that had to perform under real load, with regulators looking on, and operators in step.

Now applying that operating discipline to always-on agents inside regulated financial institutions. The work is monitoring. Risk, exposures, news, operational events. Policy-bound escalation when something needs human eyes.

What got shipped.

THE FIRM, PLAINLY

Rayleigh Stark operates from London and New York. Engagements are fixed-scope, fixed-fee. Two shapes: a Monitoring Diagnostic, two to three weeks. A First Production Monitoring Agent, six to eight weeks. The artifact is the agent watching the book. Not a deck.

Email a short note about a surface you'd want watched.
